

The FCC is preparing to pass regulations to lessen the restrictions on unwanted or unsolicited telephone calls. This regulations provide lesser protection for me that the laws of the State of Indiana and increase violations of my family's privacy. The FCC should in noway pass any regulations that lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protection.

The laws pass by the State of Indiana have reduced the number of call that I get by at least 75%. Before the Indiana law on this subject was passed We just to receive approximately 28 to 30 calls a week, now we get between 7-10 calls a week. This law, eventhough stills need improvement it has giving us certain peace and tranquility in our family time.

I strongly suggest that the State of Indian knows and understant more profoundly our problems than the FCC (National Office)and therefore is in better position to pass laws to protect ourprivacy.

I strongly plead to the FCC not to pass any regulations/laws that lessen the my families' private time.
